CITY OF WESTBROOK.

Examinations of the different grades in the Bridge street grammar school occurred Thursday. All of the classes did admirably, showing the excellent work of the principal, Mr. C. W. Wentworth and his able corps of assistants.

The Republicans of Westbrook have elected delegates as follows to attend the county convention:

Ward 1—Fred Verrill, M. L. Rabb.
Ward 2—A. C. Chute, W. W. Cutler.
Ward 3—C. R. Woodman, W. K. Dana.
Ward 4—Fred Stevens.
Ward 5—H. K. Griggs, W. H. Parker.

AT WESTBROOK SEMINARY.

The Graduation and Installation of the New Principal.

The 69th annual commencement at Westbrook Seminary took place yesterday forenoon in All Souls' church, Morrills Corner. There was the usual crowded attendance. Behind the platform was the class motto, "Gradatim," outlined in white blossoms on a band of evergreen. The exercises began with music by Grimmer's orchestra, which was the signal for the audience to rise while the graduating class, numbering sixteen filed in and took their places. Prayer was then offered by the Rev. Mr. Payson, who, with Prof. Allen, the retiring principal, occupied the platform.

The following order of exercises was then given:

Salutatory..... Marshal P. Leighton, Deering
Oration—Advantages of the State of Maine, Harvey A. Cobb, Deering
Oration—Star of Home, Katie G. Knight, Deering
Dissertation—Railway System of the United States, Geo. B. Lang, Deering
Oration—We End Only to Begin, Helen E. Moore, North Anson
Dissertation—Progress in Electricity, Meldon H. Merrill, Yarmouth
Oration—Our Heroes, Myra Josephine Perry, Deering
Oration—Love, Marion McC. Rideout, Bartlett, N. H.
Essay—Fate, Frank H. Quimby, Melrose, Mass.
Dissertation—With Difficulty Won, Prized Most Highly, Janet A. Sargent, Seabrook
Essay—A Fanny, Ida Stevens, Woolwich
Poem—The Legend of the Roses, Flora G. Thompson, Jay
Dissertation—Our Duties to Mankind, Geo. E. Noyes, Gorham, N. H.
Dissertation—Hunger and Thirst, Blanche True, Augusta
Dissertation—Simplicity, Myra E. Weatherbee, Lincoln

Valedictory address, Stella May Dennis, Winn
All the parts were well written and well delivered the valedictory by Miss Dennis exhibiting much thought, and the Latin salutatory by Marshal Parker Leighton was quite remarkable from the fact that young Leighton is but fifteen years old, the youngest member of the class.

The awarding of diplomas, the singing of the class ode written by Flora G. Thompson, and the benediction by Rev. Dr. Safford, finished the exercises. The essay by Harvey Ambrose Cobb, Deering, on "The Advantages of the State of Maine," was not delivered. The diplomas were delivered the graduating class:

HIGHER ENGLISH COURSE.
George Burham Lang, Meldon Humphrey Merrill, George Edwin Noyes, Flora Gertrude Thompson.

COLLEGE PREPARATORY COURSE.
Harvey Ambrose Cobb, Marshal Parker Leighton, Myra Josephine Perry, Frank Harvey Quimby, Ida Isophene Stevens.

LAUREATE OF SCIENCE.
Marion McClellan Rideout, Janet Abigail Sargent, Blanche True, Myra Elizabeth Weatherbee.

LAUREATE OF ARTS.
Stella May Dennis, Katie Greene Knight, Helen Elizabeth Moore.

The trustees who were present, occupying the front seats, reserved for them, were ex-Gov. Sidney Perham, Rufus Dunham, Esq., Alfred Woodman, Esq., Rev. Dr. Safford, pastor of the church, and Harry Virgin, Esq.

Prof. Allen, it is understood, will leave for the West and Prof. Stone is going to Lowell, Mass., to take a position in an electrical plant. His successor is A. M. Peterson, a graduate of this year's class at Tufts.

Inauguration of President Whitman.
After the usual dinner in Hersey Hall, which was very largely attended, the inauguration of Rev. H. S. Whitman, the new president, took place in All Souls' church.

The exercises were opened by Rev. Mr. Keirn, of the Church of the Messiah, who invoked divine blessing, a song by the seminary quartette followed, and then ex-Governor Perham, of the board of trustees, delivered the address of investiture, saying to Mr. Whitman, that it was a pleasant duty in behalf of all the friends of the institute to extend to him a cordial greeting and hearty welcome, and also, in behalf of the trustees, to speak the words that should clothe him with the authority of the position. And he did it with the greater pleasure because of his intimate knowledge of the eminent fitness of Mr. Whitman. In its 60 years of life the institution had had 20 acting principals and presidents, beginning with Rev. Samuel Boudicome and ending with Professor Allen, who had their best wishes for his future and their heartiest God-speed. Mr. Whitman was, therefore, the 21st president. Only one of the others had served for a long time, and he was the late Dr. Weston, who had been associated with Mr. Whitman at Deane Seminary. The speaker gave interesting reminiscences of Dr. Weston, whom he had known for 47 years, and said that could he have been present none would have extended to Mr. Whitman a heartier welcome. In conclusion, in the name of the trustees, he invested him with the office of president of Westbrook Seminary with all the authority attaching thereto, saying "may your success be equal to our expectation."

President Whitman's Address.
Mr. Whitman, in response, expressed his feeling of responsibility in accepting the position of trust, and said that he was well aware how great the burden must be which is the price of success. He felt that it was not inappropriate that he had chosen for his theme "The School as a Factor in American Life."

The school of today must be in accord with the spirit of the age. What wonderful stories have been told by modern science, what mighty revolutions have been effected, and with all these stupendous changes the school must keep pace if it is to be a dominating power. It must constantly enlarge its scope to correspond with the demands of the age.

The possibilities of the school in this age cannot be overestimated, since its function is to train the mind and store it with knowledge, and since the world's great storehouse of facts was never so richly supplied. But there is another phase of the school besides imparting knowledge. Tools are of little without ability to handle, neither are facts without skill to use them. Some men slash away with the best of tools and never accomplish anything of use or beauty. The mind cannot be cultivated without skill—skill in thinking clearly and logically, and in bringing the whole power of the mind to bear upon one object. Such skill is the ultimate aim of education. The result is that meaning is quickened, thought stimulated, reason employed, and the whole intellect expanded. To accomplish this is a great work, worthy of zealous care. It lifts man from mediocrity to intellectual greatness. But the school must educate not only the mind, but the whole man. Moral discipline must be recognized as no less important than mental. Without it a trained intellect is a distorted development and a powerful weapon for evil. We depend mostly on the home and the church to evolve faith and love; but the school can do much to awake and instruct the conscience. It must be understood that a certain degree of popular intelligence and virtue is necessary for the preservation of our free institutions. There is a dead line of vice and ignorance. Should the average virtue ever fall below that, disaster must follow. It is the mission of the school to keep it above that line. Our country is threatened by the tide of foreign immigration. Much of this great damage can be averted by the schools where the children of all nationalities mingle in study and play. Another dangerous aspect of American life is the centralization of wealth, which is causing an organized opposition between labor and capital, and we see the astonishing spectacle of the rich and the poor confronting each other like two great armies. The school is increasing between them. Surely this is no time for laxing interest in our schools, one of the greatest agencies to counteract these evils of the age. The ignorant are plant tools in the hands of the unscrupulous. The schools by their levelling forces, should allay the growing animosities and help the people to prove strong in all that makes for a glorious nation, so that we may stand as a beacon light for all the rest of the world.

Mr. Whitman concluded by addressing the interested in the institute and saying: "We stand here with eager expectancy. We want Westbrook Seminary to be all that such an institution can be. It must be a great haven for good. It can and will be if we, in our generation, prove as wise and faithful as those before us have in theirs."

"The past is ours, the future is yet veiled; but we know that if we are equal to every emergency we must move forward. There is no reason why it should not be a great institution. We must be ready to do all that is demanded by an exacting age. Money will be required of course. We must have a large endowment fund to hold a foremost place. I give myself to my new work heart and mind, and pledge myself to do the best that I can. May God's blessing rest upon Westbrook Seminary."

After an anthem by one of the quartettes, Rev. Dr. Henry Blanchard made an eloquent prayer of installation, the audience sang a hymn and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Safford.

Westbrook High School.

The graduating exercises of Westbrook High School took place at the Methodist church last evening. The church was prettily decorated and bore the class motto, "Esse Quam Videri," and the music was by Grimmer's orchestra. The graduating class appeared to great advantage. The papers were well written and well delivered. The class reception will be given at Cumberland Hall, East End, this evening. This was last night's programme:

Prayer..... Rev. A. N. Dary salutatory..... Philip Dana.

Bridgton Academy.

When the boys returned from the interscholastic contest at Brunswick, they were received with open arms and nothing was too good for them. A reception was given at the chapel in the evening, by the students and citizens. An orchestra was furnished and after a promenade concert of a half hour, a collation was served and the meeting ended with three rousing cheers for the champion school athletes of Maine. Then, for half an hour pandemonium reigned, by lighting bonfires, ringing bells, firing cannons and guns, until half past ten when quiet reigned in Warsaw.

The entertainment by the students the 8th inst. was a success in every way. Some $63 dollars was received.

The programme for graduating week is as follows:

June 26—At 3 p. m., Baccalaureate Sermon, Rev. George Lewis.
June 27—At 2 o'clock p. m., Commencement Exercises.
June 28—Evening, at 8 o'clock, Address, Hon. Stewart L. Woodford. Subject: The Story of Four Centuries.
June 30—At 2 o'clock p. m., Class Exercises.
June 30—Evening, at 8 o'clock, Concert, Lotus Glee Club, assisted by Prof. W. S. Batt.

Rooms are already being engaged for commencement week. There promises to be a very large attendance and well there may, as the attractions are "un surpassed."

The Republicans of Limington held their caucus Saturday, June 11th, to choose delegates to the State convention. Benjamin Small presided, and J. F. Brackett was Secretary. J. F. Brackett, S. L. Purinton, Benj. Small and Joseph Webster were chosen delegates. All favor the nomination of Hon. H. B. Cleaves for governor.

There will be a boat leave Hope Island for the city at 6 p. m. to accommodate those who attend the picnic.

State Street Church.

The State street church and parish have ratified the doings of the committee in charge of the proposed alterations. The bids for remodeling the church will be opened next Monday, and another meeting held Monday evening next.

A Memorable Square Meal.

"If a man is blessed with a good appetite," said Mr. Staybolt, "he can get along comfortably for quite a spell without eating; there may be times, indeed, when he will find the delights of a banquet in a very simple meal. I remember a day in the army, for instance, when, after we had been for weeks without fresh vegetables of any sort, there was issued to the regiment a ration of potatoes. It so happened that on the same day the sutler had onions. There were in our tent four men. We got the company cook to give us our rations of potatoes and of salt pork uncooked, and we bought onions of the sutler. We had at that time an old saucepan that one of us had picked up somewhere. We got out the saucepan, and cut up the pork and boiled it until it was about half done. Then we put in the onions and then the potatoes, which we had cut up in large pieces as nearly as possible uniform in size, so that they would all be done at the same time.

"While one man looked after the fire another attended to the cooking. The other two sat on the ground and applauded—that is, they sniffed the air whenever the lid was taken off the saucepan and looked at each other and at the two men by the fire and smiled.

"When the stew was nearly done we put in a few hardtack to soften, and when after a formal inspection by each man it had been officially declared done the cook lifted the saucepan from the fire and set it on the ground. The two men who had the least to do had been holding their plates and spoons for fifteen minutes.

"Good? It makes me laugh whenever I think of it."—New York Sun.

Court Adjourns at Alfred.

ALFRED, June 16.—The Supreme Judicial Court for York county adjourned this morning after a session of 25 working days, the longest spring term in many years.

HERBERT BISMARCK'S BRIDE.

She Is Beautiful, Accomplished and Vivacious.

The marriage of Count Herbert Bismarck, son of the Iron Chancellor, and Miss Margaret Hoyos has in it some elements which interest all Europe, if not all English speaking America. The bride represents so many diverse elements in blood, language and commerce that she is a history in herself; she is Hungarian by birth and allegiance, half English and half German in blood, and altogether Prussian, or rather Bismarckian, in sentiment.

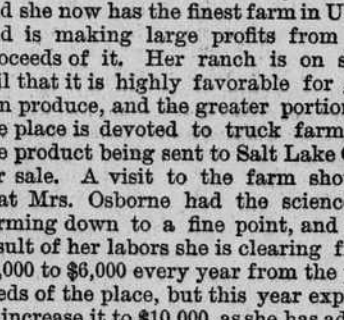

Her father is Count George Hoyos, a partner in the famous firm for the manufacture of torpedoes at Fiume, and her mother is a daughter of Mr. Whitehead, the Englishman who founded the firm. As a result of this conjunction of German (possibly Hungarian) and English blood the lady has all the vivacity of the races of the Levant and all the advantages of an English rearing and education. She is a bright, handsome girl, with plenty of spirit, and will inherit a very large fortune.

Fiume is a royal Hungarian city at the mouth of the Fimara, about forty miles from Trieste, and is one of the most important seaports of Austria-Hungary. The union of Austro or German Hungarian, Greek, Italian and other races has produced a population of unusual grace, intellect and vivacity, and the new Countess Bismarck has for some time been the belle of this composite society.

A Successful Woman Farmer.
Mrs. Nannie Osborne, of Utah, has lately taken high rank as a successful farmer. Her husband went to that territory for his health, and had just got a farm established on an island in Great Salt Lake, about ten miles from the city, when he died. This was ten years ago, and she now has the finest farm in Utah, and is making large profits from the proceeds of it. Her ranch is on such soil that it is highly favorable for garden produce, and the greater portion of the place is devoted to truck farming, the product being sent to Salt Lake City for sale. A visit to the farm showed that Mrs. Osborne had the science of farming down to a fine point, and as a result of her labors she is clearing from $5,000 to $6,000 every year from the proceeds of the place, but this year expects to increase it to $10,000, as she has added a chicken ranch to the garden farm. She has two incubators in full blast and expects by early summer to have 600 broilers ready for market, which will find ready sale in Salt Lake City. Mrs. Osborne's ranch was under a heavy mortgage when her husband died, but now it is clear, and she has put over $5,000 worth of improvements on it since the debt was paid.

A Gubernatorial Candidate.

Charles F. Johnson, recently nominated for governor by the Democrats of Maine, is only thirty-three years old, but he has always been what is usually called "a precocious youth." He was but fifteen years old when he entered Colby university and he graduated from Bowdoin at the age of twenty, having been compelled to remain out of college a year and teach for the means to complete his course.

He was born in Winslow, just across the Kennebec river from Waterville, his present home, and in his boyhood attended the common schools here. In 1881 he married Miss Abbie Bretton, daughter of Colonel I. W. Bretton, of Winslow. They have two children. After teaching several terms elsewhere Mr. Johnson located in Waterville in 1886, where he has since practiced law and has held various local offices, the most important being city clerk and city solicitor.

Russian Hounds for Wolves.

The stockmen of South Dakota have recently been greatly troubled by wolves, which have taken to killing calves and colts. They have suffered so much from these pests that they have concluded to exterminate them thoroughly, and with that end in view numbers of Russian wolfhounds have been carried to South Dakota, where they will be bred and kept by farmers to the exclusion of all other breeds of dogs.

The Elephant's Keen Scent.

It is a difficult matter for hunters to get within reasonable distance of a wild elephant, for its sense of smell is so delicate that it can scent an enemy at a distance of 1,000 yards, and the nerves of its trunk are so sensitive that the smallest substance can be discovered and picked up by its tiny proboscis.

LISTEN!!

If you want to know what scares hard times to death and who does it. There is such a commotion in the high price and big profit firms as has never before been known to exist. Hard times may be a thing of the past for everyone who is disposed to take advantage of certain liberal offers which are here set forth. The first thing you should do is to be more careful about your buying. We know that many of you have been subject to be overcharged, when a little care and effort on your part would have resulted in securing equally as good quality at a great saving in price. In these times it pays to be posted. Business methods differ as well as business men. One house is trying to make money by realizing a big profit on a few sales, while another endeavors to accumulate wealth by asking small margins on a multitude of purchases. No matter which is the best for the merchant there is no question as to which method the buyer ought to support. Watch the next time you have a purchase to make and be sure that you carry your trade to a house that believes and practices the principle of small profits on many sales.

YARMOUTH, June 16.—The closing session of the Maine Unitarian Conference was held today, Rev. Mr. Phelan of Portland, presiding. The communion service in the morning was conducted by Rev. S. C. Beach of Bangor. Resolutions in memory of the late Rev. Thomas Hill, D. D., of Portland, were adopted. The resolution recommending that the missionary committee appoint Rev. G. H. Seward of Waterville as special missionary agent for Maine, was adopted. The conference also adopted a resolution expressing interest in temperance work. Rev. T. F. Parker read an instructive essay on "The Religious Need of the Time," followed by an interesting paper by Rev. S. C. Beach of Bangor, on "Experiencing Religion." The conference closed with prayer by Rev. E. E. Newbert of Augusta.

PROFIT IN HOGS.

A Man Who Makes Them Pay on Clover Pasture.

April 10, 1891, I bought forty head of hogs, paying $117 for the bunch, or $2.925 per head. They averaged ninety pounds per head; that made them cost me $3.35 per 100 pounds. These hogs I put after a bunch of cattle and they staid with them until May 11, 1891, when I put the cattle on grass.

I fed the hogs twelve barrels of corn at $3 per barrel during the month of May and up to June 20; then I contracted them for $5.25 per 100 pounds to be delivered July 10. Thus, you see, I had twenty days to feed them and corn I could not buy, so I went to town and got 2,000 pounds of oilmeal which cost $24, 1,000 pounds of bran which cost $5, 1,000 pounds of shipstuf which cost $8.50, a total cost of $37.50. I put my hogs (which had been in a woods pasture) in a clover field, and not very good clover at the best, and they then weighed 130 pounds per head. I began feeding twice a day on a mixture of oilmeal, bran and shipstuf wet up just enough for them to eat it well, and kept it up until the day to deliver. Then I had 200 pounds of oilmeal, 100 pounds of bran and 150 pounds of ships' left. The hogs averaged, on July 10, 188 pounds, and brought me $9.889 per head, or $975.79, as two of them had died in the feed lot. The figures are these:

Cost price of forty hogs.....	$117 00
Following cattle.....	38 00
Twelve barrels of corn at $3 per barrel.....	36 00
2,000 pounds oilmeal.....	24 00
1,000 pounds shipstuf.....	8 50
1,000 pounds of bran.....	5 00
Cost to produce.....	$224 70
Selling price.....	$975 79
Profit.....	$751 09

These hogs at only five cents per pound would have brought $357.50, and that less the cost, $224.70, would leave $132.80; and at $4.50 per 100 pounds they would have brought $331.43, which would have left a profit of $106.73. Now the outlook in the future is more favorable than last year, and corn can be bought at $1.50 and $3 per barrel, where last year it cost $3 and $3.25, and hogs are scarcer than at this time last year and stock hogs are just as cheap as last year. I think we farmers would do well to keep our stock hogs and feed them on grass for the summer market, and when we sell I do not think we will say as of old that we have been robbed of our corn and hogs. I do not mean to say that the market will be better or as good as last year, but I think it will justify the feeding of two dollar corn on clover pasture. At least I am going to try it. I am going to feed eighty head of hogs—some large ones and some small ones—so if there is a good market early I can put my large hogs off on it and my small ones later.—Con. Breeder's Gazette.

An Enormous Amount of Labor Saved When They Are Successful.

The co-operative system must continue to grow in magnitude until a large portion of all the milk produced is worked up at central points. Centralization is the order of the day, and nowhere is it more evident than in dairying. There will be some increase in the system where private dairymen supply individual customers with butter, but there is a limit in this direction, while for the factory system I see none.

The bringing together of the milk from off a hundred farms to one central point means that a hundred farmers' wives are relieved from irksome labor, and in place of a hundred kinds of butter in as many style packages, each paying heavy express charges, there is one lot of uniform quality, shipped at low rates in the refrigerator car. In the creamery I see the saving of an enormous amount of energy on the farm which will be set free and utilized in the direction of better dairy farms, pleasanter homes and improved social conditions.

Who shall control the creameries? Upon this important question I have arrived at no definite conclusions. There is a natural desire among farmers in these days to control their own business, and who can blame them for it? The farmer's occupation in a measure prevents him from being a careful, shrewd business man in the usual sense of that term. His work is to produce rather than to barter. In consequence of the desire among farmers to manage their own business, we have seen scores and hundreds of co-operative creameries spring up in the west. Because of enmity, jealousy and lack of business capacity we have seen a large per cent. of these factories become bankrupt and pass into other hands.

If our farmers would only have more patience with each other, and would put the same energy to work along business lines that is now given over to neighborhood quarrels, co-operative factories would rule the day. Here and there we find co-operative factories successfully managed which stand as monuments of neighborhood good feeling and brotherly confidence. May their number rapidly increase.—Professor Henry.

A Valuable Opal.

The most famous opal of history was that which was worn in a ring by Nonius, the Roman senator, in the days of the triumvirate. In size it was scarcely larger than the average hazelnut, yet its beauty was such as to render it the marvel of its time. The "money changers" and goldsmiths of Rome set its value down at $1,000,000. Mark Antony made overtures for its purchase, intending, it is believed, to present it to Cleopatra. Upon the death of Nonius history loses all trace of it, there being no record of its transfer from him to any member of his family.

Paper Barrels in England.

Paper barrels are now being made in England and find ready sale. The factory in which they are made has an historic interest. It is at Boxmoor Herts, and is known as Two Waters mill. It was one of the first paper mills erected in England, and was started during the reign of Queen Elizabeth.—Philadelphia Ledger.

WHITELAW REID'S HOMES.

The Editor of the New York Tribune Has Two Fine Residences.

Whitelaw Reid, the Republican candidate for vice president, has a city and a country residence. His country seat has a history. It was founded many years ago by the famous Ben Holladay, who built a stone castle in imitation of or adaptation from some famous castle of the Old World. It stands upon a commanding point in Westchester county, N. Y., overlooking Long Island sound and a vast region eastward and westward. The place as a whole is not excelled as a country seat in America, and Mr. Holladay, in memory of his western career, named it Ophir Farm. He was reared in a cabin, lived to be many times a millionaire and to see both his daughters countesses then lost his wealth and consequently his lovely estate.

John Roach, the famous shipbuilder, became the owner and he, too, succumbed. His son Garrett became nominal owner and soon died. Then Mr. Reid bought it, but the "hoodoo," as our colored friends say, still "bore down," and in 1888 the mansion was destroyed by fire. A new and more imposing mansion has risen on its ruins.

Mr. Reid's residence in New York city is widely noted, and a complete description would fill many columns like this. It is the famous "Italian palace" designed by Henry Villard some ten years ago, and stands at the corner of Fifth street and Madison avenue, directly facing the famous Catholic cathedral. The location is in the very heart of high toned New York, in the central section of the creme de la creme. The plan, as drawn by Mr. Stanford White, was for a structure consisting of three wings, having the form of a square with one side open. The plan was slightly modified by Mr. Villard, so the style is now spoken of as that of "the Italian Renaissance somewhat Americanized."

REID'S CITY RESIDENCE.

Mr. Villard was "finished" as a millionaire before the house was, and in 1886, for $400,000, it became the property and home of Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid. Their diningroom and the smaller room, known as a coffee room, with doors of heavy paneled oak, ceiling spanned by magnificent cross beams, delicately carved panels and magnificent fireplace, are the admiration of aesthetic New York. The library is also noted for its artistic beauty. Mrs. Reid is more devoted to her husband and home than to society, but has shown her social capacity in France, and is a fitting hostess for the New York palace.

The Newspapers of Persia.

Recent travelers in Persia find the newspapers of that land a source of perennial amusement. There were none till the shah returned from Europe two years ago. While in Paris he saw the cabmen with newspapers in their hands when idle, and naturally, it is said, attributed their general intelligence to this fact. As soon as he arrived in Teheran he established a ministry of the press, and called upon the nobles to aid him in his plans. As a result there are twelve journals in Persia today. Among them is the official organ, Iran. To read them, however, requires considerable linguistic ability, as they are printed in a mixture of Turkish, Persian and Arabic, with French and Russian words here and there. Sherif, an illustrated paper in Teheran, contains only portraits of Russian and European celebrities. When one can read them, however, he finds their grave comments on western affairs more amusing than the most labored efforts in Punch or the Paris comics.

Mr. Gladstone's Favorite Dog.

Mr. Gladstone is uniformly kind to all the occupants of his home at Hawarden, but he has two favorites—his youngest granddaughter, Dorothy Drew, and Petz, a Pomeranian dog, imported in 1888. Every morning the dog will wait outside the door of Mr. Gladstone's dressing room in order to accompany him in his daily walk to morning service at the church. Petz's favorite diversion is running after sticks, a game that never seems to tire him. No one, too, is fonder of joining in the game than Mr. Gladstone himself. "Nearly all the ex-cabinet ministers," says a Hawarden resident, "when visiting the castle, have had to contribute in this way to Petz's amusement."

COLUMBUS' VOYAGE TO BE REPEATED.

His Caravels to be Reproduced, Cross the Atlantic and be Exhibited.

When the holding of a World's Fair became a certainty a very natural thought was that every relic of Columbus that could be secured would be an interesting exhibit. In April, 1890, while the special committee on the Fair of which Representative Candler, of Massachusetts, was chairman, had under consideration the original bill for the exposition, Mr. William E. Curtis, Secretary of the Bureau of American Republics, made a recommendation to that committee that the ships comprising the squadron of Columbus be reproduced.

Mr. Curtis suggested that the three caravels be accurately reconstructed and sent over the course that Columbus sailed and that, after visiting the islands where Columbus touched, the vessels be taken to Chicago for exhibition.

These recommendations were adopted by the National Commission, and when the exposition authorities gave Mr. Curtis charge of the historical collection for the Fair he proceeded to carry out the plan. It was evident that no satisfactory replicas of the caravels could be built without long research and study in Spain. Even there the authorities were limited in number, deficient in precision and often not in accord with each other. To secure the co-operation of the Spanish government a special diplomatic agent was needed, and it was decided to appoint a naval attaché to our legation at Madrid. After consultation with Rear Admiral S. B. Luce and Commodore F. M. Ramsay, chief of the Bureau of Navigation and Office of Detail, Mr. Curtis asked for the detail of Lieut. William McCarty Little, United States navy, for duty at our legation in Madrid, and the Navy Department complied with his request.

Lieut. Little is a New Yorker, son of the banker, Jacob Little, who was the leading spirit in Wall street forty or fifty years ago. As a linguist and natural diplomat Lieut. Little is peculiarly well fitted for such a piece of work, and since the beginning of this year he has been in Spain energetically urging forward the investigation by which the detailed plans of the caravels were adopted and prepared for the shipbuilders.

By the exercise of infinite tact and by unwearying, zealous effort, Lieut. Little induced the Spanish Minister of the Navy to appoint a commission of naval officers and archaeologists to investigate the questions involved in reconstructing the three ships of Columbus, and the commissioners went to work with enthusiasm.

THE SANTA MARIA.

They found few authentic records that gave many useful facts, and—what was worse—what records they did find did not always agree. Lieut. Little took up the broken threads of history, tradition and guesswork and sought to twist them into a towline strong enough to draw the commission to a common anchorage. It was a weary task, for every detail of build, rig, armament and equipment had to be fought over until an agreement was reached.

It was not till very recently that the plans were completed to the satisfaction of all the people involved in the quest. These plans were reduced to working drawings, and from them the caravel builders are to work in reproducing the little squadron of Columbus.

The original expectation was that the Spanish government would build all three of the caravels as a part of its fair exhibit, but the depleted condition of Spain's treasury has made it impossible for that country to reproduce more than one. Accordingly, Spain will provide the Santa Maria, while it is expected that the United States will bear the expense of building the Pinta and the Nina.

If the money be appropriated by Congress all three of the ships will be finished in time to leave Palos on the 3d of next August, exactly 400 years after the great discoverer's departure from that port. While they could, doubtless, be navigated across the Atlantic to-day with safety, and in less time than was taken by Columbus in 1492, it has been thought best to have them hoisted on board a Spanish man-of-war, which will then transport them from Palos to Havana, Cuba. On their arrival in Havana they will be put afloat and will work up to New York under their own canvass, entering this harbor October 12.

Here they will remain long enough for every one to see them, and they will then continue their journey to Chicago. By removing their masts the Pinta and the Nina can be navigated through the Erie Canal, and that will be the route the two smaller caravels will take. They will make frequent stops on the way to permit people to examine them, and at Buffalo they will go around by way of the St. Lawrence River and the Welland Canal. From Buffalo to Chicago they will probably be towed just fast enough to make the trip before the close of navigation. In Chicago they will be one of the most interesting exhibits. They will be fitted out in every particular exactly as were their prototypes four hundred years ago, and will have on board Spanish sailors dressed in the sailors' garb of that day.

Mr. Curtis has secured two items of the original outfit of the Santa Maria—an anchor and a gun. He also hopes to be able to get another of her anchors, but as the owner holds it at a price about equal to its weight in gold, this second anchor may be omitted from the new Santa Maria's equipment.

After the close of the Chicago Fair the caravels will be brought East and taken to Washington. A mooring place in the Potomac has already been selected, and they will there remain as a permanent show until they fall to pieces.

By a Woman's Hair.

You may tell a woman's character by her hair. Fine hair indicates one of gentle and amiable traits. Brown hair shows common sense. The straighter and less yielding the hair the firmer and more positive is the woman's nature. Treachery and jealousy hide beneath lusterless or dead black hair nine cases out of ten. The lighter colored the hair the more "touchy" is the owner.

IS a disease that local physicians only palliate but never cure. It is one of the diseases that have baffled medical science, and it is only within a few years that any method was known but the cruel knife or ligature, and both of these are painful and dangerous, and still not always successful. But some twenty years ago a great discovery was made, which has proved a boon to suffering humanity, and Dr. C. T. Fisk, of Lewiston, is the only physician in Maine in possession of this method, by which he has made hundreds of cures in this state in the past thirteen years; many of which have been given up by local physicians as incurable. The Doctor has no salve or ointment to sell, but must see his patients and treat them personally. His record for the past thirteen years has never been equalled by any physician in this country, as no one ever takes a course of treatment without being cured. He can be found at Room 18, United States Hotel, Portland, every Saturday, where he will be pleased to meet any one suffering from piles or any disease of the rectum, whether they come prepared to be treated or not, or he will forward his book with testimonials and other information to any one who may wish.

FRIDAY, JUNE 17.

FOR PRESIDENT.

Benjamin Harrison.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

Whitelaw Reid.

The Cleveland men spite of all their professed confidence would feel a good deal safer if their favorite was nominated. Hill and Gorman haunt them continually.

The Argus says the Democratic party believes in manhood suffrage, and abhors an educational qualification. How is it in South Carolina? Does the Democracy believe in manhood suffrage there?

The Argus's solicitude lest the educational qualification to be submitted to the voters of Maine this fall may disfranchise intelligent citizens in the future is quite pitiable. The real source of its anxiety, is, we suspect, that it will disfranchise citizens who are not intelligent and thus cut down the Democratic vote.

In a letter to the Kennebec Journal, the Hon. Herbert M. Heath points out some objections to the use of a check list at caucuses. They are in brief the difficulty of establishing a fair test of the right to vote and the danger that even if one is found, the city committee may not apply it fairly. There is, of course, some force in these objections, but in this city they have not proved at all serious. So far as we know there has never been, since the check list was used in this city, any complaint of disfranchisement or any claim that the city committee had manipulated the lists for the advantage of any candidate. Why there should be any more serious difficulty in Augusta than in Portland is not apparent.

"We think there are a good many Democrats in Cumberland county who do not believe in free rum and have no sympathy with the movement now going on among their city brethren to nullify the prohibitory law, and we are inclined to think that when the three gentlemen who are candidates for sheriff go into the country towns to solicit delegates they will sing a somewhat different tune from that which they have been practicing in Portland. We venture to say that in these towns all of them will take good care that no spokesman of theirs tells the country caucuses that they must select as delegates to the convention to nominate a sheriff men who believe in the iniquitous folly of the prohibitory law. Yet that is the counsel which the spokesman of one of the most prominent candidates for sheriff gave to the Democratic caucus in this city. There never was a more dishonest and scandalous campaign than this Democratic campaign for the shrievalty. The purpose and intents of it are to nominate and elect a man to that office who is believed to be ready to nullify one of the laws of the State, violate his oath of office, and give the rumrunners of Portland and other large places full swing. In the city this programme is scarcely disguised at all, but in the country it is to be covered up lest there may be a revolt against it. It is an infamous programme and can only be successful by keeping the decent people of the country in the dark regarding it.

The Press has received the following note from Mr. E. C. Swett, the gentleman who presided in the caucus in Ward 4 on Wednesday evening:

"Will you do me the justice to correct, your report of the caucus in Ward 4 last night in so far as it relates to me and my remarks. What I said upon the occasion was written out and carefully committed to memory beforehand, and under no fair interpretation susceptible of the significance given by your reporter. While according full respect to the right of the reportorial fancy in recording and satirizing the sayings and doings of political opponents, I believe there are amenities even in politics, which should not be too far overstepped. What I said upon the occasion I should not scruple to repeat in any presence, and will willingly furnish a copy to the Press for publication word for word and letter for letter. Will you accord me the courtesy of publishing this letter in connection with your correction?

Very respectfully yours,
E. C. SWETT.

The words attributed to Mr. Swett by the Press reporter which he denies using are these:

Gentlemen, we are not here in the interest of any individual, but in the interest of men who believe in the iniquity of the prohibitory law.

The Press reporter was sent to the caucus to report faithfully its doings and sayings. He had no motive to misrepresent Mr. Swett, and he firmly declares that he did not misrepresent him. He affirms that Mr. Swett did use the language attributed to him, and in this he is confirmed by another gentleman who was at the caucus watching the proceedings as a spectator merely. Mr. Swett says he carefully wrote out his speech beforehand and memorized it. Doubtless he thinks he repeated it exactly as he had written it, but it is exceedingly easy, especially for facile speakers like Mr. Swett, to alter somewhat the expression of an idea unconsciously. In Mr. Swett's speech as it was written, the manuscript of which he has furnished us, we find the ideas conveyed by the language attributed to him by our reporter, though expressed in different words. We quote from the manuscript:

"We can carry Cumberland county at the next election. But to do that we must put forward as candidates men whose Democracy has been tried and proven, who will command the united support of the Democratic party and the votes of those Republicans who believe with us in the iniquitous folly of the prohibitory law."

There is no essential difference between the idea conveyed by the language which our reporter says Mr. Swett used, and the idea conveyed by the language which Mr. Swett wrote out and intended to use. The thing Mr. Swett intended to impress upon the caucus above all others was that men must be chosen as candidates who believed in the iniquity of the prohibitory law, because in the selection of such men lay the chief if not the only hope of Democratic success. The significance of the language attributed to Mr. Swett by our reporter was that the claims of individuals should be subordinated to the success of the party, and that candidates should be selected who believed in the iniquity of the prohibitory law. The significance of Mr. Swett's speech as he intended to deliver it was the same, with this addition, that the candidates should be Democrats. Even on the assumption that our reporter varied Mr. Swett's language, catching merely his idea, which he declares was not the case, we cannot see that Mr. Swett would have any ground for complaint.

PERSONAL AND PECULIAR.

General Eppa Hunton, Virginia's new Senator, rose in four years from the Confederate ranks to a major generalship.

Sir Evelyn Baring of Egyptian fame will take the title of Baron Cromer of Cromer, in Norfolk, that being his birthplace.

Mary Steele, who has charge of the money order department of the Pittsburgh post office, handles more than $2,000,000 annually. This is, perhaps, the largest business entrusted to any woman.

The last male heir of Pulaski, the distinguished Pole who aided the patriots of the Revolution, lives in Savannah, Ga., where he earns a scanty living peddling small wares.

Charles J. Baker of Baltimore has just presented to the American Bible Society a manuscript containing the whole Bible, written in the Latin language. The volume is a curious one, and it is supposed it was written in the fourteenth century.

The Wanamakers have four homes—the residence in Washington, one in Philadelphia, a cottage at Cape May Point, called the Lilienyn cottage, from the names of the two daughters, and Lindenhurst, a very fine residence and estate, about fifteen miles from Philadelphia.

There died recently in Hungary two ladies who served in 1848 in the revolutionary army and fought in several of the fiercest battles dressed in military uniform. One of them was several times promoted, and under the name of Karl attained the rank of first lieutenant of hussars. At this point, however, an artillery major stopped her military career by marrying her. The other fought under the name of Josef, and was decorated for valor in the field. She married long after the campaign. An Hungarian paper, referring to the two cases, says that about a dozen women fought in 1848 in the insurrectionary ranks.

King Christian I. of Denmark, whose golden wedding was celebrated recently, is a well preserved handsome man of seventy-four. His education was entirely German, and there is yet a suspicion of a German accent in his speech. But he had hardly ascended the throne of his fathers in 1833 when the Danish Prussian war broke out, and there was a good deal of discontent among the patriotic Danes that their sovereign Lord should only be able to express his sorrow at the loss of Schleswig-Holstein in words which sounded far more German than Danish.

The Duke of Portland continues to add to his shooting domains. He has just taken a lease of the shootings at Dunbeeth, which adjoin those of Berriedale, and give an addition of twenty thousand more acres—thus bringing the total area of his shootings up to about eighty thousand acres. But the duke believes in things on a big scale. He is one of the richest noblemen in England. His town mansion extends along almost the whole side of Cavendish square and Welbeck, his seat in Nottinghamshire, is said to be the finest woodland domain in the country.

The young King Alexander of Serbia recently had a narrow escape from death. He drove out with his adjutant to the suburb of Belovoda, and on his way back to town had to cross the railway at a point where a turn in the road hid from view an approaching train. The gates of the crossing had been left open, and a catastrophe appeared inevitable, when a gendarme, named Mirkovich, at the risk of his own life, seized the reins of the horses and forced them back. Mirkovich was promoted on the spot and afterwards decorated.

Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe celebrated her 81st birthday at her home in Hartford, Conn., Tuesday. A floral tribute from Houghton, Mifflin & Co., of Boston, was received. Mrs. Franklin Chamberlin, who is a near neighbor of the distinguished writer, sent a bouquet of roses, and received a note of thanks in Mrs. Stowe's handwriting, in which she said, "My pilgrimage has been long, and I end happily, surrounded by such friends and neighbors." The physical health of Mrs. Stowe is remarkably good at present.

THE HOME.

STRAWBERRIES.

Strawberry Syrup.—Mash the fruit in a pan and put it in a warm place for two or three days, or until it begins to ferment. Filter the juice through a flannel bag, and to every pint of juice allow two pounds of sugar; mix well together until the sugar dissolves, allow it to boil up two or three minutes, remove it from the fire, let it get cold, take off any scum that rises, and bottle it. Two or three tablespoonsful of this to a glass of cold water is a pleasant summer beverage, and is very refreshing for invalids.

Strawberry Jelly.—Mash the fruit thoroughly and strain the juice through a muslin bag; to every pint add one pound of sugar, and one-quarter ounce of isinglass dissolved in a little water. When the sugar is dissolved in the juice put it over the fire and boil it until it is a jelly. Can same as other fruits.

Strawberry Sandwiches for Desert.—Four eggs, their weight in sugar, butter and flour, a pinch of salt. Beat the butter to a cream, gradually add the sugar and flour, then the well-beaten eggs and beat all together for ten minutes longer. Butter a shallow baking tin in the batter, and let it bake forty minutes; let it get cool, spread half the cake with a layer of fine strawberries, crushed and sweetened; place the other half of the cake on top, press lightly together, and cut into finger pieces, then ice the top and sides of each.

Cameled.—A half pound of sugar to one pound of fruit. Mash enough for cooking, juice and pour over the measured quantity; cook 10 minutes, stirring constantly; add sugar and cook three minutes. Plunge the jar in hot water, fill, pour out, then put in the fruit allowing the can to set in the hot water while it is being filled. Remove the top from hot water and screw down quickly.

Strawberry Cream Tart.—Roll good puff paste out very thin and lay it in a tart-pan; put in a thick layer of fine strawberries and plenty of white sugar to sweeten them to taste; put on a thin covering of the paste and bake quickly. Beat well together a half pint of thick sweet cream, the yolks of two fresh eggs and a little sugar. When the tart is done cut a neat round hole in the centre, into which gently pour the beaten cream. Let it get cold before serving. Properly made, this is delicious.

To Preserve Strawberries Whole.—Take equal weights of the finest and finest strawberries and best granulated sugar; lay the fruit in deep dishes and sprinkle half the sugar over it; give the dishes a gentle shake that the sugar may touch the under part of the fruit. The next day mix a syrup of white sugar and water, and the juice that has been drawn from the strawberries, and boil it until it jellies; then put the strawberries carefully in it, and let them simmer for nearly an hour; then put them gently in jars and pour the syrup over them; it will not go in, but the following day the jars will hold it all. Seal carefully.

—N. E. Farmer.

WHIPPED CREAM PIE.
Line a deep pie tin with a moderately rich crust; bake in a quick oven; then spread it with any jam or jelly and on this pour a teaspoonful of cream, beaten or whipped to a stiff foam, then sweeten and flavor to taste. The cream will beat more easily if very cold at first. More jelly can be spread on the top of the cream, or serve it without as preferred.

One pound of three-strand wool twine will tie the fleeces of thirty sheep. One pound of five-strand wool twine will tie up the fleeces of twenty sheep.

REV. W. L. BROWN, FOR YEARS A MEMBER OF THE M. E. CHURCH, BUT FOR THE LAST TEN YEARS AN EVANGELIST IN THE CHURCH OF GOD. HE IS WELL KNOWN BY THOUSANDS WHO WILL VOUCH FOR THE TRUTH OF THE FOLLOWING: "GENTLE—I write to inform you that the TWO COURSES OF SKODA'S DISCOVERY AND LITTLE TABLETS have done wonders for me. I can hardly realize it, the change has been so marked."

I contracted the Chronic Diarrhoea in the Army, and since 1885 I have been a constant sufferer. In addition to this, I was troubled as follows: 1st a lame Back and Kidney trouble. 2d, Dyspepsia. 3d, Fatigues and an all-gone feeling. 4th, Distress at pit of Stomach. 5th, Headaches and Dizziness. 6th, Muscular Rheumatism in chest so I had to lie in bed for a severe time. 7th, a severe Trouble that would cause my pulse to run at 98 for days at a time. I was treated by very eminent Physicians, but would be compelled to leave my labors and return to my home weeks at a time. In fact I have had 18 fits of sickness in the last 26 years, and several times have been given up for dead.

I feel that I am completely cured of all my bodily diseases except the Diarrhoea, which is not cured, but greatly benefited. I shall take another course which I think will cure me entirely. Yours with gratitude, REV. W. L. BROWN.

Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Company,

P. O. Box 346, No. 95 Milk St., Boston, June 8.

Income Bond Conversion UNDER CIRCULAR NO. 68.

Income Bonds are now being received for exchange into Second Mortgage Bonds, Class A, under the Plan of Conversion, in effect June 1, 1892, by the following appointed agencies:

UNION TRUST CO. OF NEW-YORK, At Office of Atchison Co., 95 Milk St., Boston.

UNION TRUST CO. OF NEW-YORK, 80 Broadway, New York City.

BARING, BROTHERS & CO., LIMITED 8 Bishopsgate-within, London, E. C.

Holders forwarding bonds from distant points. In America, should ship them, by express, to the Union Trust Company of New York, 80 Broadway, New York City.

Holders in foreign countries should ship their bonds to Baring Brothers and Company, Limited, London.

All expenses of transmission of bonds delivered at either of the above agencies will be paid by the Atchison Company.

Pending preparation of engraved bonds, the work upon which is proceeding with despatch, Negotiable Certificates of the Company and Depositors will be delivered Income Bondholders, to be exchanged without unnecessary delay for the former in due course. Application to list these Certificates has been made to the Stock Exchanges in Boston, New York and abroad.

Income Bond Scrip of any class will be received for exchange, the same as the bonds, in amounts not less than $100, and in even hundreds or thousands.

Holders of any of the bonds called for exchange, under Circular 63 of Oct. 15, 1889, upon presenting their bonds to any of the Agencies mentioned, can effect the original and present exchanges at the same time.

TO ENABLE THE COMPANY AND ITS AGENTS TO PROMPTLY CARRY OUT THE EXCHANGE OFFERED HEREIN, HOLDERS SHOULD DEPOSIT THEIR INCOME BONDS BEFORE JULY 15, 1892.

SUBSCRIPTION TO SECOND MORTGAGE 4 PER CENT. GOLD BOND CLASS "B."

The Management considers at present a fair basis of market value of the new Second Mortgage 4 per cent. Gold Bonds "B" to be 70.

Depositors of Income Bonds depositing their Bonds for exchange are invited to subscribe to any amount of $5,000,000 of these bonds, which will be authorized to be issued.

Improvements to be made for the first year, beginning with July 1, 1892, at the price of 67, the bonds allotted to carry all coupons for interest at 4 per cent. from July 1, 1892.

Each depositor of $1600 in Income Bonds will be entitled to subscribe for the new Second Mortgage Class "B" Four Per Cent Bonds. In the event of applications exceeding the total amount to be offered for subscription, the excess will be adjusted in proportion to holdings.

Arrangements have been made by which this subscription has been underwritten, a syndicate having been formed to take all the bonds not available by Income Bond holders.

SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE PAYABLE AS FOLLOWS: 10 PER CENT IN CASH TO ACCOMPANY APPLICATION. 25 PER CENT UPON ALLOTMENT. 25 PER CENT WITHIN 30 DAYS AFTER ALLOTMENT. 20 PER CENT WITHIN 60 DAYS AFTER ALLOTMENT. 20 PER CENT WITHIN 90 DAYS AFTER ALLOTMENT.

PAYMENTS MAY BE ANTICIPATED UPON ANY DAY UPON WHICH INTERESTMENTS ARE DUE AND INTEREST WILL BE ALLOWED THEREON AT THE RATE OF FOUR PER CENT. PER ANNUM. The Subscription List will close on the 1st of July, 1892.

ALL CASH PAYMENTS under this Subscription will be made to the ATCHISON, TOPEKA & SANTA FE RAILROAD COMPANY, 95 MILK STREET, BOSTON, and at its Fiscal Agencies, Messrs. BARING, BROTHERS & CO., 15 WALL STREET, NEW YORK, and Messrs. BARING BROTHERS & CO., LIMITED, BISHOPSGATE WITHIN, LONDON, ENGLAND, at all of which places blanks will be furnished as may be required. Receipts will be issued by such depositories to Agents for the Subscribers upon the understanding that the moneys received shall be held in trust, not to be paid for the uses of the Railroad Company until the Directors of said Company shall officially announce that the Plan of Conversion has become effective.

ORAL AND WRITTEN INQUIRIES concerning this Plan and applications for Circulars and blanks for use hereunder can be made of Messrs. BARING, MAGOUN & CO., 15 WALL ST., NEW YORK CITY. Messrs. BARING BROTHERS & CO., LIMITED, LONDON, ENGLAND, and of J. W. REINHART, VICE PRESIDENT, ATCHISON COMPANY, 95 MILK STREET, BOSTON. By order of the Board of Directors.

GEORGE C. MAGOUN, Chairman. J. W. REINHART, Vice President.

FRESHMEN ENJOY THEMSELVES.

Dinner of the Class of '95 at the Falmouth Hotel.

The freshman class of '95 of Bowdoin College enjoyed their first class dinner, celebrating their advent as brevet-sophomores, at the Falmouth Hotel Wednesday evening. The class marched from the station to the hotel with their banners and giving the class cry at intervals, interspersed with college songs. A capital menu was provided by Mr. Martin, and it was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

After the dinner Mr. Hiland L. Fairbanks, toastmaster, proposed the following toasts, which were replied to by these gentlemen:

Rowdoin—Mr. Hatch, Bangor.
Athletics—Mr. Mitchell, Brunswick.
Our Class—Mr. Stubbs, Strong.
Our Girls—Mr. Stetson, Bath.
Faculty—Mr. Lord, Biddeford.
Our Future—Mr. Holmes, Lewiston.

Extemporaneous toasts were replied to by Messrs. Kimball, Thayer, Parker, Weber, Roberts, Russ, Mead, Foster, Knowlton, Blaine and Smith.

The literary exercises were as follows:

Opening Address.....Thomas V. Doherty
Ode.....H. W. Thayer, Composer
History.....John S. French
Oration.....George L. Kimball
Ode—Sung to the air of "Nellie Gray"
Poem.....Allen L. Churchill
Prophecy.....George Weber
Closing with old Phi Chi, "Marching Thro' Georgia."

These class officers were elected:
President—Edward S. Lovejoy.
Vice President—Sewall R. Savage.
Secretary and Treasurer—Abner A. Badger.
Committee of Arrangements—William E. Leighton, George H. D. Foster, Walter S. A. Kimball.
Committee on Odes—Joseph T. Shaw, Harvey W. Thayer, Louis C. Hatch.

Stricken with Apoplexy.

Yesterday morning the hands on the steamer Tremont found a man lying in his state room unconscious. At first it was thought he was sleeping but later he was found to be in a stupor. He was taken to the police station, where City Physician Sullivan pronounced it a case of apoplexy, and that the man could not recover. From the papers that were found in his pockets it appears that the man's name is George Care. He is evidently an Englishman by birth and 54 years of age, one of his various discharge papers from service on vessels stating that he was born in 1838. In his valise was an envelope newly addressed, along with some writing paper and a new pen. The address on the envelope was "Mrs. George Care, 498 Swett street, South Boston." In his pocket was a letter from a gentleman who addressed him as "My Dear Uncle." This man was evidently a Presbyterian clergyman from the letter, which deals with literary and religious topics, and makes considerable reference to the trial of the Rev. Mr. Briggs. The letter is signed R. H. P. Miles, and is dated at 49 East 60th street, New York. Telegrams were sent to Mrs. George Care, Swett street, Boston.

About 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon the man came to enough to say his name was George Care, that he was a Scotch-English-Irishman, that he lived in South Boston, and had a son living. He said he knew a Mr. Pearson of Portland. He declared he hadn't been drinking. He was taken to the almshouse and was somewhat better in the evening.

Much criticism has been expressed that the man was not taken to the hospital in the first place. He was found by Dr. Palmer, who called at the station, lying in the lodging room, with all the windows open, and only a shirt over him. He had the man wrapped in a blanket and slippers put on his feet. He thinks if the man had been properly treated in the beginning and not given up as sure to die he would have had a good chance for his life.

Notice the special announcements that the Atkinson Company make today. The advertisement in another column will interest every one.

Pollard-Shattuck.

A quiet home wedding occurred at the residence of the bride's parents, 16 Salem street, last evening, when Miss Edith M. Shattuck was united in marriage with Mr. James E. Pollard of this city. Rev. Mr. J. Everett Bean, pastor of Vaughan street church, was the officiating clergyman. Both families were largely represented, and there were also many friends of the bride and groom in attendance. Among the presents was a handsome chair from the Mercantile Agency.

A Case Settled.

The case of Nellie Furniss vs. Boston & Maine Railroad Company, an action of tort to recover $15,000 damages for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained on March 27, 1890, at Chelsea, while plaintiff was alighting from a train which suddenly started, has been taken from the jury and settled.

Machigonne Encampment.

Machigonne Encampment, No. 1, I. O. O. F., has elected these officers:
C. P.—C. A. Cummings.
H. P.—C. H. Farr.
S. W.—H. H. Higgins.
R. S.—C. F. Plummer.
F. S.—James Fleming.
Treasurer—C. N. Lang.
J. W.—Alex. Fleming.

"A like quantity of Cleveland's

Baking Powder goes further and does better work than any other of which I have knowledge. It is therefore cheaper."

DEERING.

Sad Death of Miss Louise S. Maxfield, of Stroudwater.

The people of Stroudwater were saddened last evening by the death of Miss Louise S. Maxfield, daughter of Mr. Charles M. Maxfield. Miss Maxfield, who was about 43 years of age, had been in ill-health and despondent for about a year; but it was not thought that her trouble would take a violent form. But yesterday afternoon about 5.30 o'clock, one of the members of the family, upon going to her room, found her hanging from the bed post by a cord, and quite dead from strangulation.

HARPSWELL.

The Lawson House Opened by Mr. Pooler

Wednesday, June 15th, the Lawson House at South Harpswell opened under the management of Mr. J. J. Pooler. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon, teams began to arrive from Brunswick until about 60 couples had arrived. A game of ball was indulged in until about 6 o'clock. Promptly on the stroke of the clock, Landlord Pooler threw open the dining room doors and in step with the music furnished by Professor Ryser, the guests marched in and did ample justice to the bounteous banquet.

Kindergarten Graduating Exercises.

The Kindergarten Normal Class held their graduating exercises yesterday afternoon at the Kindergarten. The rooms were filled with friends of the class and of the cause, and the teachers are to be congratulated on the happy manner in which the programme was carried out.

After the opening songs and hymns, an essay entitled "What is a Kindergarten?" was read by Miss Mabel Leavitt of Saco. The education of children has received the attention of great minds for centuries, but Froebel has proved the greatest teacher that has yet arisen. He likens a child to a plant. When good opportunities are given for development, the child like the plant attains its best growth.

After the fall and winter songs, came an essay by Miss Grace Lowell of Saco, on "The Educational Value of the Kindergarten," which showed great thought. Play is the natural expression of the inner nature. Everything learned has some value in developing the child and connecting him with the outside world. The writer urges accuracy in all work. Then followed songs of the trades, given with much spirit. Miss Mary Norton of Portland had, as the subject of her essay, "Stories in the Kindergarten." There are too few stories told. They are of vast educational value, stimulate imagination and plant the germ of good literature.

A gift lesson was charmingly given by Miss Lowell.

Between a group of spring and summer songs, Miss Martita Cortt of Saco, read an essay on the "Cultivation of the Senses." The senses should be carefully trained as a means of moral training in after life.

The closing paper was by Miss Grace Atkinson of South Berwick. "The relation of the Kindergarten to the primary school," was clearly set forth, showing that the advantages of a kindergarten training follows one through life.

The gymnastics were the embodiment of grace and the games pleasing. Miss Jennie Proctor, the first kindergarten of Portland, and Rev. Mr. Ayres, made remarks suitable to the occasion.

Society of Natural History.

At a meeting of the Society of Natural History on Wednesday, Dr. Wm. Wood, the president, called attention to recent additions to the society's cabinet, including a fine collection of specimens from the annual and vegetable kingdoms of California presented by Mrs. S. E. Spring; a tarpon from the West coast of Florida; from Jos. H. Bridge; and handsome corals from Turk's Island, presented by James E. Carter.

Numerous other donations for the cabinets, and 35 books, proceedings, etc., for the library were noticed and appropriate votes of thanks passed to Miss Titcomb, Mr. C. A. Dyer, Mr. Morton, E. S. Bates, Howard Hussey, A. M. Wetherbee, J. K. Parks, P. C. Manning, E. S. Drake and others; and to Mr. John F. Richardson of Boston for a new wood out of the society's seal.

The publication committee reported the completion of the new Federal Catalogue of Maine plants, over 500 copies of which have already been distributed to each acting and corresponding member of the society and to numerous foreign and domestic societies, botanists and others. Copies may be obtained of the society at nominal prices.

Mr. Chas. E. Smith of Philadelphia was proposed as a corresponding member.

Going to Atkinson's today?

Political Notes.

The Republican caucus will be held at Waterville this evening to elect delegates to the Third District Congressional convention. It has been generally believed that Milliken will carry the caucus, although it is said that Burleigh will make a fight, in accordance with his policy of making a contest in every city, town and plantation in the district. A caucus will also be held in Hallowell, where the chances are probably more evenly divided than in Waterville.

Sale of Vessel Property.

Brig Ernestine, 400 tons, has been purchased by W. S. Jordan & Co., of this city, and has gone to Greenock with a cargo of spool wood, in command of Capt. F. M. Johnson of Rockland. Schooner F. E. Tower, 80 tons, has been sold by W. S. Jordan & Co. to G. A. Gilchrist of Rockland.

A FEW FACTS

For Fond Fathers and Feminine Financiers!

Our Special Friday And Saturday Sale.

Bargains In Every Department.

BARGAINS IN BOOTS.

Tennis Shoes by the bushel.

We have bushels of canvas tennis shoes and we will close them out at prices that will catch everyone.

Our regular 75 cent Shoe for 40 cents.

Light easy and comfortable; every boy should have a pair for summer. We have a particularly tempting bargain in the Ladies' Oxford tie that we are selling for $1.39; it is marked down from $2 and is a great favorite with our customers.

Another bargain is a lot of Ladies' Oxfords that are great value; they are regular $3 shoes, but the line is broken so we shall close them at $2.25, patent leather with fancy cloth tops. We have a low patent leather shoe for men, to be worn with gaiters; the price is $2, but it is a beauty. We have a full line of Russia calf.

Children's Footwear a Specialty.

OUR HAT DEPARTMENT.

We are giving great value in this department just now in Straw Hats. Think of a fine Mackinaw for 88 cents. A fine English Milan straw for $1.50. Wide shade hats for country and sea side only 15 cents.

Children's Straw Hats

In straight and rolled brims, all shapes and colors. Sailors, from 25 cents to $1, the popular shape. Silk yachting caps only $1. Yachting caps for ladies and misses and bicycle caps 50 cents to $1.25. Hammock hats and crush hats in great variety. Cloth caps for boys, in all the popular shapes.

There are no old hats in our stock.

SUMMER CLOTHING.

See our job counter.

We have arranged a job counter and are going to make it the feature of the sale.

We have taken our $12, $13 and $14 all wool suits in which the line is broken and placed them on this counter; you can take your choice now at $10.

Light Flannel Suits.

We have some new imported white flannel suits, they are just in and are the prettiest things in the city.

Bathing suits for men and boys $1 to $3.

Then $7.50 will buy you a blue flannel suit and $10 will get you a good all wool business suit. We have the best variety though at about $15. Our finer grades are the best ready made clothes in the city and equal tailor made garments. We have the Rogers, Peet & Co.'s suits.

In men's odd pants you will find some surprises, $1, $1.25, $1.37, $1.50, $2, $2.50 and upwards, and they are really good looking pants, too.

CHILDREN'S SUITS.

Lots of new things in children's sizes, prices from $1.98 to $12.50.

There are some very neat effects in sailor suits, just the thing to wear at the islands; every mother should bring her boys here. We have a full line at lowest prices. You will be surprised at the variety.

FURNISHINGS.

See our negligee shirts marked down from $3 to $2; they are very rich. We have an outing shirt for 25 cents and upwards. There is a fine Mackinaw for 88 cents at 25 cents, and hosiery in popular colors at 3 pairs for 50 cents. You won't wear linen collars any more than you can help, but we sell 3 for a quarter, and also a 50 cent necktie for 20 cents. By the way, remember that we have some neat vests for summer wear, $1 to $4.50.

The Atkinson 49 cent unlaundershirt and the Farrington 47 cent are favorites.

Call in on your way to the steamer.

SPECIAL FURNITURE SALE.

We offer special bargains today in furniture. We have some odd pieces on which we have reduced the price to close. Be sure and ask to see this lot of furniture.

THINK OF THIS.

1 lot mahogany and walnut book cases, former price $29.40, a handsome bit of furniture; we shall make the price $18.

1 lot cherry sideboards, former price $112; these are an expensive article and for that reason perhaps have been slow in selling; it is a handsome style and would adorn a dining room; the price will be $90.

Died from Apoplexy.

Yesterday afternoon, about 4 o'clock, Gilbert Grant, a colored man, about 70 years old, was found dead at his home on Newbury street by John P. Junco, a lad about 14 years of age. Grant was lying in the front doorway, with his feet protruding outside. He evidently had died of apoplexy. Coroner Gould was called but deemed an inquest unnecessary. Mr. Grant was last seen about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and then appeared to be in his usual good health.

Is It a Forgery?

It is reported that a check signed "Ang. Moulton" and cashed by the Westbrook Trust Company, has been pronounced a forgery by Augustus F. Moulton, Esq., of this city, unless the signature is that of some other Augustus Moulton. The check was presented by a Gorham young man.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ANY Consumptive

That has been under medical treatment three months without relief, we will send one case of Murdock's Liquid Food, Boston, free of charge.

IF Paralytic

under treatment for three months has had no relief, we will give one case of Murdock's Liquid Food free of cost.

Our reasons for the above offer are that we have never known a case of paralysis that we have not cured or very much helped, or a consumptive that has not been either cured or a strong testimony that life has been very much prolonged by its use.

In all cases of Disease beneficial results are sure to be obtained by the use of Murdock's Liquid Food. This statement is attested by the crucial test of over THREE THOUSAND operations in a prominent hospital in this country, and by its use the unprecedented record was reported of a loss by death of only five patients in a thousand, and many of these difficult cases of surgery. We shall be pleased to give any inquirer the further facts, but the above is convincing proof that Murdock's Liquid Food is not an artificial stimulant to the system, but though it can be given in the most extreme cases of exhaustion with perfect safety, its influence is permanent and without a reactionary influence deleterious to the system.

We would remind the public that no substitute (and there are many so-called Foods and Food Extracts in the market) has a record in any way approaching the results of the Murdock's Liquid Food in the past 12 years.

FLOWER QUEENS OF NIGHT.

BY MARGARET EYTINGE.

"Pretty, fragrant four-o'clocks," said the rose one day. "Try 'tis your buds unfold Into blossoms gay When the west begins to burn With the sunset light— Sweetness wondrous rare to waste On the drowsy night."

"Other blooms have birds to sing, Bees to hum their praise. But for the night-blooming flowers, Bees and birds seldom hum for you, Birds but seldom sing, Buttery is ne'er your guest, Pretty, fragrant things."

"Lovely, graceful, crimson rose," said the modest flowers, "Happiness is ours. Moon we have, and sparkling stars (Each a heavenly gaze) And their light so gentle is, We can look at them."

"And the flashing fire-flies Round us gleam and dance, Like a countless host of faeries In an airy dance. And the moth king, velvet-winged, Daintily kiss your petals, As he whispers, 'You are sweet, Sweet as any rose.'"

"Grieve no more for us, dear friend; Lured by moth and fire-fly, Dew-drop, moon and star, And while you o'er garden reign In the bright daylight, We are hailed by wandering winds, Flower queens of night."

A PERILOUS HOUR.

I was apprenticed to a decorative painter, but being of a bold, danger-loving turn, I ran away to sea before my time was out. After some years I tired of a maritime life, and having married and determined to stick to the shore, I got work with a builder whose peculiar lay in erecting tall chimneys. I had always a very cool head, and could stand on elevations that made most men dizzy, and so I was soon a favorite hand with my master.

We had on one occasion to fasten a lightning conductor which had sprung near the top of a very high chimney, and Mr. Staming chose myself and one James Colly to do it as the most daring of his men. About half a dozen of us went that morning with a hand cart containing the necessary ropes, blocks, the kite and a box of cradle. Having flown the kite and dropped its line across the top of the chimney, we soon drew up a rope, at the end of which was a block, through which ran the line whereby we were to be drawn up.

Colly had only been married a fortnight, and as we stepped into the cradle, the men banteringly asked him if he hadn't a last dying speech to leave for his wife; and then, Mr. Staming having shaken hands with us, and bid us be cool and steady, we were drawn slowly up. It was known all over the town that the conductor was to be fixed, and the streets were thronged with watchers. Colly was very quiet, and when I waved my cap to the people he said snappishly that this was no time for such folly, and that he thought I might think of better things than how to amuse these gaping fools, who, he dared say, desired no better fun than to see us meet with an accident.

I had come up in the best heart, thinking indeed nothing about the danger we incurred, but as we drew nearer and nearer to the top, and had nothing, as it seemed, belonging to this world near to us but this straining rope, I began to see the peril of the undertaking. What Colly thought of I don't know. He sat at the bottom of the cradle, never looking out, though I told him he would do better to keep his eyes about him, so that he might grow used to the height.

Good heaven! what was this? Here we were within a yard of the top project—coping, and still they were wind-lag away, without slackening speed in the least; I guessed in a moment that they mistook our height, and that with the great purchase of that windlass the rope would be broken when the cradle came to the block. I sprang up, and catching the rope, climbed hand over hand to the coping. Colly, too, sprang up and followed me. He, too, got up safe; and still they went on winding up, till the rope sang again with the strain.

Then it snapped, and cradle, hauling line, and the main rope with its block, fell down. Thus we were two poor men left in a most desperate situation.

Poor Colly was completely dazed with fright, and the moment he got on the coping, which was only a foot and a half broad, he called out, "Where can I pray? where can I kneel and pray?" And so I said very solemnly, "Sit down, Jem; God will hear us if we pray to him sitting down."

The color of his face was a transparent blue, and it was distorted and twitching as if he was in a fit. His eyes were very wild and drawn into a squint, and he couldn't sit steady, but swayed his body backward and forward so that I felt certain that he must topple over.

"Come, Jem, lad," I said, thinking to take the fright off him; "it's bad enough, but it can't be mended. Hitch up a bit and put your arm around the rod—may be it will steady you."

"Where are you? and where is this rod?" he asked, in a very hollow voice, though he was looking straight at me, and the rod was only a foot or two to his left. By this I knew that he was gone blind with the fright; and self-preservation said, Don't go near him; but then I remembered his new wedded wife, and that taking him all through he was always a very decent fellow; and I thought how I should have liked him to have done if I had been in his case; so I determined to run a bit of risk in his favor. Of course I durst not get on my feet; but working myself on by my hands, I got to him, and putting my arm around his waist, and telling him as cheerily as I could to keep cool, I got him with his arm around the rod. It had, however, sprung the stapling for five yards down, and was so loose that it swayed with him, and I expected any minute to see him falling head and heels down and the rod tearing away with him.

There was great bustle down below; people were running around the yard and pushing to get in, but as yet there were but some score of men at the foot of the chimney, and by close looking I saw them put somebody on a board and carry him gently away toward the engine house. One of the men walked after with a hat in his hand; I knew then that somebody had been hurt by the falling cradle, and that it must be poor Mr. Staming, as none of our men wore hats. Not a face was turned up to us. I learned afterward that our men were so taken up with sorrow that so good a man and so kind a master should be killed, that for awhile they had never a thought about us, and the people outside imagined that we had come down with the cradle, so thus we were left in isolation for twenty minutes.

While I was watching them below, feeling very sorry for my poor master, I was startled by a wild laugh from Colly, who began making cat calls and yelling as if he was possessed. Then I knew that he had gone mad. Even now I tremble when I think of that time; it was horrible to peer down the shaft, black and sooty and yawning, and scarcely less so to look outside and see a flight of pigeons sweeping around at considerably less height than we were. Then Colly—thank God, he was so dazed that he could not see me—called my name three times, as I sat fairly cowering in dread that his sight might clear, and with a ghastly grin and chewing with his mouth he began working himself toward me.

I worked away from him as noiselessly as I could, with every hair of my head standing on end. He followed me twice around that horrid coping, making most hideous noises, and then having come a second time to the rod, he got an idea in his muddled head that I had fallen over, for he never lost a sense of where he was all through this trying time. Then he tried to get on his feet, but at the risk of my own life I could not let the poor fellow rush to certain death without one more effort, so I cried out for him to sit down; he cowered down like a whipped dog, all trembling. I suppose it had been put into his head that I was a dead man speaking to him.

That morning my wife had got a letter from her sister in Canada, and as there were parts we could not make out I had put it in my pocket, intending to get our timekeeper to read it for me. It had a scrap of uncovered paper at the bottom, and by another good providence I happened to have a bit of red lead pencil in my pocket. I wrote on the paper, "Get us down—Colly's gone mad," this I shut in my tobacco box, and was fortunate enough to drop it just at the feet of two men who were standing by the engine house door.

Directly all was bustle to rescue us. They got the kite up again, and I watched it mounting slowly—slowly; and when the slack twine fell between Colly and myself I took it in my hand and could have kissed it. Poor Colly, with his teeth chattering, still fancied I was a spirit, and I did all I could to favor that idea until they got another cradle up to us. Then having got him in I scrambled in myself, and clutching him fast I shouted for them to lower; and so we were got down, he wrestling and fighting with me all the way.

He was in a madhouse for some months and then went to seceding, for he never would face any height again; and I have never had the same clear head since that adventure.—Anonymous.

Arbor Days in Twenty-eight States.

Twenty-eight states have official "Arbor Days." Those observing the day in April are as follows: Colorado, third Friday in April; Connecticut, last Friday in April; appointed by governor; Indiana, April and November, by custom, not law; Iowa, late in April or early in May; Kansas, April, appointed by governor; Massachusetts, last Saturday in April; Minnesota, usually in April; Nebraska, April 23; New York, the Friday following first day in May; Oregon, second Friday in April; Pennsylvania, one day in April, appointed by governor; one in October, appointed by superintendent of public instruction.—New York Ledger.

Colors in Wild Flowers.

Botanists of the Mississippi valley tell us that 84 species of wild flowers are known to grow and flourish in that great fertile region which lies between the Missouri river on the south and west and the Des Moines river on the east and north, this exclusive of grasses, sedges and other plants whose flowers are without decided coloration. Of the 84 species, which are decidedly colored, 143, or 37 1/2 per cent., are white; 102, equal to 24 1/2 per cent., are yellow; 27 species, 7 per cent., are red or cardinal; 73 species, 19 per cent. of the whole number, are purple. The other 39 species, containing the remaining 10 1/2 per cent., are of some shade of blue.—St. Louis Republic.

Mahogany in Great Demand.

There is probably more mahogany imported to New York now than ever before, and the wood is put to a greater variety of uses than at any time since its beauty was first discovered to the world. It is true that old mahogany brings enormous prices, and that architects eagerly watch the destruction of old buildings for the sake of purchasing stair rails and mantelpieces of mahogany for new houses. But the gaudy barrooms now so popular demand more mahogany in a year than was ever consumed in a like period for the dining tables of our grandfathers. The largest logs, when not sawed up into veneer, go to make bar slabs.—New York Sun.

The Conductor's Way.

Some years ago, when Sir Charles Smith was traveling by special train in Dakota, he told his private secretary to instruct the conductor that he should not say "Mr. Smith" but "Sir Charles" in speaking to so great a man. Next time the conductor came round he said, "Well, sir—Charles—the next station is Glyndon." And always thereafter he continued to use the same form, "Well, sir, Charles."—San Francisco Argonaut.

BRIEF JOTTINGS.

There will be an important meeting of the Turnverein this evening.
Leon W. Washburn's circus will exhibit in Portland, June 28th.

Yesterday was bright and beautiful in the morning but a heavy cool south-west wind blew all the afternoon.

A military company from Providence have made arrangements and will go into camp on Long Island in July.

Mr. W. S. Waterhouse sprained his ankle very badly last Saturday and is now confined to the house.

The barbers will close their shops at noon on Fridays, beginning today and continuing until September 23rd.

The high wind yesterday afternoon broke off quite a large elm tree, in front of Mrs. Cram's residence, corner of Park and Danforth streets.

Two of the new electric cars which will go on the route to Cumberland Mills passed through the streets yesterday, to the house at Westbrook.

Those who have flowers to spare or can procure wild flowers and sprays of green, are earnestly requested to send them to the Flower Mission, 150 Free street, Saturday, at 9 a. m.

Thomas and Watson, the well-known variety men, will run Ponce's new theater at Long Island this summer. It will be called Granite Spring Casino.

A very enjoyable affair came off Wednesday night at Seargent Sloan's house, Fort Preble. A delegation of the Army and Navy Union visited the Cape and there were music, recitations and a collation.

A man was brought from Bartlett, N. H., to the Maine General hospital Wednesday night, who was a carpenter at work on a summer hotel at Bartlett. A screwdriver had slipped and penetrated the left eye.

The classes of '62, '67 and '72 of Bowdoin will dine at the Falmouth hotel Wednesday, June 22nd; the Vermont Press Association will bring 125 persons July 8th, and the New Hampshire Club will come July 12th. The Vermonters will spend July 9th in Portland and the 10th at Old Orchard.

The Challenge cup regatta of the Portland Yacht Club didn't materialize yesterday. Only one yacht, the Lena, entered and she did not appear. The yachts Leila and Geneva sailed over the course for fun.

The young people of Vaughan Street Methodist church have organized an Epworth League Society with forty-two charter members. The society will be known as The George Gilman Chapter of the Epworth League.

The directors of the Thomas Laughlin Company yesterday declared a 4 per cent semi-annual dividend payable at once. The last six months business shows a handsome increase.

The Falmouth hotel has added to the furnishings of its office a nicely framed certificate from the Board of Fire Engineers, certifying that the hotel is properly supplied with apparatus for escape in case of fire. The Falmouth has four egresses off each floor besides the big iron escape which reaches to the ground.

The steam yacht Lurline, which arrived in the harbor yesterday, belongs to the New York Yacht Club, is 105 feet length over all and 17 feet beam, and has a speed of 13 knots an hour. She is here with her owner Major W. Berman Witmon, of Washington.

The American Pharmaceutical Society will stop in Portland when en route for the White Mountains where a grand meeting will be held about the 21st of July. Portland physicians are making preparations for the event.

THE SHERIFF FIGHT.

There Were Mad and Disgusted Democrats in This Town Yesterday.

The issue of the sheriff fight in the Democratic camp was a topic of universal comment about the city yesterday. The friends of Somers and Tolman were both mad and disgusted. Tolman's friends were disgusted with the Somers men because the latter had not been willing to join a combination against Swett. Such a combination would have swept Swett off the board, and enabled Tolman and Somers to divide the city between them.

There was all the more reason why Tolman and Somers should have joined hands in the fact that Swett had them both at a disadvantage. He used to the utmost the great power which his position as head of the police, and his close relations with the head of the street department gave him. The police department has been worked for all it was worth. It has been a long time since men arrested for intoxication have found it so easy to get off without being brought before the court, as it has been under our city marshal, who has had one eye on the police and the other on the sheriff's office ever since he was sworn in. In the last eight or ten weeks but a small proportion of the men arrested for intoxication have been brought before the court. Of course the men who have escaped have a warm side for the head of the police department.

The use of a distinguishing mark on the Swett ballots has occasioned about as much kicking among the great body of anti-Swett Democrats as any other of the performances of Wednesday evening. Every Swett ballot was printed on blue paper, and Swett strikers stood over every ballot box to spot every man who failed to throw the right colored ticket. This distinguishing mark rendered the influence of the police department and the street department complete. "Men who were our supporters came to us," said an anti-Swett leader yesterday, "and told us that they dared throw no other than the blue ticket."

The use of such a blue ballot as was used in the Democratic caucuses has been ruled out of elections by the laws of Maine for many years, for the express reason that such a distinguishing mark facilitates intimidation.

Beer as well as intimidation was a potent agency in the caucuses. Of course the whole animus of the fight was, as Mr. E. C. Swett, brother of the candidate for Sheriff, graphically expressed it to the Ward 4 caucus, against the so-called "iniquities" of the prohibitory law; but beer is said to have figured actively as well as passively. No one candidate need be singled out in connection with this feature of the fight. An amusing incident of this beer campaign was enacted Wednesday afternoon. Several young fellows who were much interested in the Sheriff fight had invested some of the sinews of war current in their neighborhood, in some liquor, with which they proceeded to open campaign headquarters in a Green street bar. Deputy Sheriffs Plummer and Sterling stumbled upon these headquarters, and seized both the spirits and the attending politicians. Yesterday considerable "influence" was brought to bear to convince the authorities that the rendezvous was political and not commercial in its nature.

PERSONAL.

Hon. William Rogers of Bath was in the city yesterday.

Hon. Charles F. Libby has returned from the Minneapolis convention.

Professor Shaller Mathews of Waterville and Mrs. Mathews will pass the summer in Berlin.

General S. D. Leavitt of Eastport was in the city yesterday. General Leavitt is judge advocate of the Department of Maine, G. A. R.

The Militia.

Adjutant General Sprague has issued orders ordering all officers and soldiers at the muster to treat Capt. Hall of the Army with the respect due his rank. The general then refers to the fact that all the details of guard mounting will be fully carried out daily, and urges every officer and soldier to do hard work as it is probable a detail of the best drilled officers and men will be sent to represent Maine at the Columbian Exposition.

Democratic Convention.

The delegates elected at the Democratic caucuses Wednesday evening met yesterday afternoon to elect three delegates at large to attend the Democratic county convention. J. H. Bradley was chosen temporary chairman and Thomas Hassett permanent chairman. Wm. H. O'Brien was chosen secretary. A committee of three to receive, sort and count votes was chosen and reported:

Whole number of votes.....	26
Necessary for choice.....	14
Wm. H. Clifford.....	26
Solomon Schwarzschild.....	26
Horace H. Jones.....	26

William H. O'Brien, of Ward 4, offered the following resolution which was seconded by Mr. Clifford, of Ward 7, and was adopted:

Resolved, As the sense of this convention, that it is demonstrated by a clear majority of the entire vote cast at the largest caucuses ever held in this city, that George L. Swett is the choice of the Democrats of Portland, as their candidate for sheriff, and we hereby recommend his re-nomination by the Democratic county convention on the 29th inst.

Members of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Second Parish church are to go on a basket picnic to Falmouth Foreside Saturday if pleasant.

There was a report yesterday that a store on Exchange street had been entered and $40 in money taken. The police had no information to that effect.

A number of thermometers were stolen from store doors Wednesday night.

OFF FOR CHICAGO.

This is the Party Bound for the Democratic Convention.

The train which will carry the Democratic delegates and their friends to the Chicago Convention will leave the Union Station this morning at 8.45 o'clock, over the mountain division of the Maine Central. There will be two Pullman cars, which will run through to Chicago without change. The party will be made up as follows:

Colonel C. Morton, Augusta.
George E. Hughes.
D. J. McGillicuddy, Lewiston.
A. S. Kimball, Norway.
Hon. Nathan Claves, Portland.
G. Shaw, Biddeford.
D. C. Facker, Bangor.
C. C. Homer, Bucksport.
J. P. Bass, Bangor.
Ara Warren, Bangor.
George B. Emery, Gorham.
George P. Clifford, Cornish.
C. E. Hall, Belfast.
M. R. Hunnewell, Pittsfield.
Thomas White, Bangor.
S. M. Gane, Alfred.
E. F. Kelly, Bath.
E. C. True, Auburn.
M. E. Wood, Bangor.
E. Snow, Whitefield, N. H.
Mrs. Charles D. Wing, Auburn.
E. C. Swett, Portland.
Mrs. E. C. Swett, Portland.
Miss Swett, Portland.
Miss Gore, Whitefield.

An Ionian Product.

We have received a bar of that choice Zante Green Olive Oil Soap that many have noticed in H. H. Hay & Son's window. A word in regard to its history may be of interest. Its distinctive and peculiar green color is not artificial, but due to the chlorophyll of the true unripe olive, the oil at this time yielding a particularly bland and emollient soap. It is from the factory of Mercati Brothers, members of the renowned family of the island of Zante, Greece, mentioned in all the encyclopedias as of great integrity and courage. Such a source as well as the long established record of H. H. Hay & Son, speaks much in favor of this article of admirable merit.

Rev. E. P. Woodward and Spiritualism.
Rev. E. P. Woodward is to preach in Mystic Hall Hall next Sunday at 10.30 when further objections to the doctrines of Spiritualism will be urged by him. His subject will be "The bodily resurrection of Jesus; the Rock of Refuge and the Rock of Ruin." As it is at the request of Spiritualists he will preach there, they will no doubt turn out in large numbers, and it is also expected that the thinking portion of the Christian people will also be well represented to hear their system defended by so able an advocate. His sermon will probably be reviewed on the following Sunday by Mr. Andrew Cross, who has followed and closely criticised his recent lectures on that subject.

The Atkinson Company offers some special bargains today. See their advertisement in another column.

Veteran Firemen.

The quarterly meeting of the Portland Veteran Firemen's Association was held last evening, Vice President Plaisted presiding. The following new members were admitted: Henry Bullard, George C. Wiggin, W. G. Davis, R. R. Burnham, J. F. Fowler, W. L. L. Gill, C. E. Timmons, J. S. Woodbury, A. J. Green, R. H. Murphy, J. H. Delancey, W. S. Merritt, Francis W. Buxton, Frank Fickett, John F. Green, John F. Mullen, Corydon R. Gordon.

The thanks of the association were tendered Rev. W. S. Ayres, of the First Baptist church, for the able discourse delivered on Sunday, June 12th.

White Mountain Hotels.

The Mount Pleasant House was formally opened for the season on Monday last. This is the first of the White Mountain hotels to open its doors, excepting perhaps those at Jackson and Mapletown Cottage at Bethlehem, which is also open, or will be in a day or two, and the Jefferson Hill House and hotel at Lancaster, which are open all the year. The Fabyan House, Mapletown, Profile and Glen all open Saturday, June 25th, and indications from all quarters point to a large summer's business.

Which had you rather do or go to the Atkinson store?

The Portland Steamers.

There is no pleasant water trip out of Boston harbor than that made by the Portland boats, which leave India wharf daily at 7 p. m. To the daily trips of these boats has just been added one on Sunday. The boats of this line are admirably handled, and embody in their personnel all that is needed for the comfort and convenience of their patrons, and are consequently very popular.

Mr. L. E. Hamlen.

RINES BROS.

TO-DAY will be celebrated, at Boston, the 117th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill.

A glittering morning pageant will be followed later in the day by military and civic parades, in which the representatives of many organizations will participate. It promises to be as imposing a spectacle as ever stirred up the patriotic instincts of the Hub.

We are stirring things up with our 75 cent Balbriggan Shirts and Drawers. You can see them in our window. A regular $1 garment for 75 cents; cheap, isn't it? We shall have tomorrow morning new lines of suits for our Saturday's trade; better drop in tomorrow and get the first pick from them. Negligee Shirts, are still "in it," 50 cents to $3.00.

Ask to see the Sash Vest, something new.

CENTS' DAYS.
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

Tremendous success has crowned all our efforts in Ladies' and Children's Days. The last two days of this week, as was previously announced, will be devoted to the Gentlemen and we have tried to make this sale the most successful of all. We have made a great many reductions in prices on all goods for men's wear and have added to our immense stock of Gents' Furnishings many novelties especially for this sale. The sale begins at 8 o'clock Friday morning and lasts till 10 Saturday evening. First in the list of attractions in Gents' Goods comes

MAN'S BOSOM FRIEND.

You can with impunity let many things go by default if your linen is all right, and there is not the shadow of an excuse why it should not be immaculate and perfect when we are offering our present

LIST OF GENTS' WHITE SHIRTS.

At the head of the list in regard to perfection, stands the

SENATOR

and for solid satisfaction, there's no shirt like it in the country. Made of the best of cotton, nicely finished. The Senator is in fact absolutely perfect in FIT, WORKSHIP and MATERIAL. Price $1.00.

PORTLAND'S PRIDE is without an equal as a 50c shirt. Perfect fitting and made of good materials.

The WONDER Shirt is a fast seller and when you remember that the price is only 35c you will not wonder why we sell so many. Examine it and see if you ever saw a shirt like it for the same price.
